

Practical Examinations Notice

Examination candidates should be aware of following important information items.

- If one mannequin is used, it must have at least shoulder-length hair at the start of the examination and have the appropriate hair-length for each applicable service.
- Mannequin hair-type should be suitable for the required examination services. Synthetic and animal hair mannequins are not recommended for chemical processes.
- Mannequins representing a diverse range of hair textures can be used to demonstrate any of the practical examination services.
- Mannequins are not required to have facial hair (First period - Barber exams)
- The permanent wave chemical application has been changed to a water perm demonstration (Hairstylist qualification and second-period exams).
- Make arrangements to reschedule your examination if you are experiencing flu-like symptoms.
